

Aviation Security Directive
ASD No 3 of 2008
Subject: Prohibited Items List

With effect from 10 October 2008, this aviation Security Directive will repeal and replace Aviation Security Directive 02/07 dated 22 February 2007 on “screening of liquids, aerosols and gels” and will be valid until further notice.

1.0 Introduction

1.1 This Aviation Security Directive is issued pursuant to section 19 of the civil Aviation (Security) Regulations 2008.

2.0 Applicability

2.1 The arrangements listed below apply to the restrictions on the admissibility of articles prohibited in the cabin of an aircraft and in the security restricted area for security reasons and on liquid, aerosol and gel which passengers are allowed to take through any cabin baggage screening point at the Sir Seewoosagur Ramgoolam International Airport.

2.2 The arrangements apply to domestic and international passengers and will become in force as from 10 October 2008.

3.0 Articles Prohibited in the cabin of an aircraft and in the security restricted area for security Reasons

3.1 Please refer to items listed at Annex to this Directive

4.0 Liquids, Aerosols and Gels (LAGS)

4.1 With regards to items such as liquids, gels, aerosols etc., which passengers may wish to take through a screening point into the airside waiting area, the following security control measures will be exercised:

- a) All liquids must be carried in containers with a capacity not greater than 100 ml. Liquids carried in containers larger than 100 ml will not be accepted, even if the container is partly filled;
- b) Containers must be placed in a transparent re-sealable bag of a maximum capacity not exceeding 1 litre (or equivalent).
The containers must fit comfortably within the transparent bag, which must be completely closed;

- c) The plastic bag must be presented for visual examination at the screening point. Only one transparent plastic bag per passenger will be permitted.
 - d) Exemptions apply:
 - (i) to medications, baby milk/ foods and special dietary requirements. An appropriate and proportionate means of verifying the nature of such liquids may be required; and
 - (ii) in respect of liquids purchased at the airport duty free shops on the condition that the liquid is packed in a sealed bag that is both temper-evident and displays satisfactory proof of purchase at airport duty free shops, on the day(s) of the journey.
 - e) To facilitate screening and avoid a cluttered x-ray machine, such plastic bags containing liquid containers must be presented separate from other cabin baggage, coats and jackets or laptops for x-ray screening.
- 4.2 These measures should not result in the improper placing of dangerous goods in the hold, thereby compromising airside safety.
- 5.0 Transit passengers
- 5.1 Aircraft operators are required to inform passengers in transit that purchases of liquid items may be confiscated at transfer airports.
